Lürssen - M/Y Quattroelle

BELLISSIMO'S BLUSTERY SEA TRIALS

Love, life, liberty and luxury at Lürssen

The 85m Quattroelle, formerly known as Project Bellissimo, has completed her sea trials in choppy conditions off the Italian coast. Sold and supervised by the technical team of Moran Yacht & Ship, she was sold at the time of writing.

She is the first Lürssen yacht designed by Nuvolari-Lenard, a celebrated design firm that created her exterior and interior styling. A successful combination of elegance and rakish charm, she fits her name well, which means 'four Ls', essentially, love, life, liberty and luxury.

She is similar in appearance to Oceanco's Seven Seas, but retains a unique style. We particularly like the funnel, which dominates her profile and puts one in mind of the air scoop of a formula one car. Quattroelle can accommodate 12 guests in six staterooms.
