same time proportionate,” says Dan Lenard. “Seen in her entirety, this is a high-impact yacht, whose determined military look becomes soft on the sea.”

Atlante's creative layout makes good use of her 10.2 metre beam and five decks. As designer Dan Lenard describes it, there was a priority put on creating innovative design solutions to soften her aggressive styling and break down the barriers between indoor and outdoor living.

“We found some original solutions, such as a non-traditional bow and areas entirely devoted to guests, like the side doors of the main deck that, once the tenders have been launched, can be exploited to the fullest”, says Dan Lenard.

Powered by twin Caterpillar engines, the full-displacement yacht Atlante will reach a top speed of 15 knots and cruise at 14 knots. After fitting out and sea trials are complete, she will head off for her maiden voyage.

Part of the Ferretti Group, CRN specialises in the build of custom yachts between 50 and 90 metres LOA. Upcoming launches from the builder include 74 metre CRN 131 due for arrival in 2016, a 46 metre Superconero due to launch in 2017 and CRN 135, 77 metre that will be on the water in 2017.
